MAKING A SPLASH... In Tucson, ARIZONA lost its top Pac-10 Championships finisher from last year, Crissy Ahmann-Leighton, but this season the Wildcats are ranked 12th and have seen some strong performances. . . Having met the NCAA time standards, Amy Van Dyken (50 free and 100 fly) and Becky Gumpert (400 IM) should provide point opportunities. . . Heather Welch in the back, Christy Carolin at the sprint freestyle, and Liz Scholzen in the butterfly are also all potential point scorers as they look to make the NCAA time marks.

#7 ARIZONA STATE has one of the best IM swimmers in the country in Chris Jeffrey, but she won't be alone as Beata Kazuba has also set new ASU records in the breaststroke along Joanne Currah in the distance freestyle. . . Also heading to Long Beach will be Betsi Hugh in the fly and IM, and Maria Anderson in the sprints as coach Tim Hill wants a top three finish.

#9 CALIFORNIA's first year coach, Teri McKeever, has helped the Bears crack the Top-10, but now the challenge lies in bettering last year's fourth place Conference finish. . . Lisa Summers, in the freestyle (plus the 200 IM), will be one who could lead the way along with Trina Radke in the freestyle, backstroke and butterfly . . . Don't forget to look out for freshman Larissa Herold in both the 200 back and 400 IM. This newcomer could be the spark that takes the Bears to the next level.

OREGON STATE has only 13 members, but Christy Ryerson in the freestyle and backstroke has won at least one event in every dual meet this season and could be the main point scorer for the Beavers.

The Cardinal passed two tests this season in defeating #3 Texas and #5 SMU, both on the road. Now #2 STANFORD looks for another Conference Championships which they have won every year since 1987 (the first year the Pac-10 began holding championships). . . With the likes of Jenny Thompson (world record holder in the 100m freestyle), Janel Jorgensen (butterfly and IM), Lori Heisick (breaststroke), Mary Ellen Blanchard in the IMs and Lea Loveless in the backstroke, the task may not be too difficult. . . With 10 swimmers already qualified for NAAs and having reached consideration times in all events, the Cardinal may be looking ahead for a repeat performance at the NCAA Championships.

The Bruins are again on pace to contend for the Pac-10 title as they return both their individual champions Natalie Norberg (500 free) and Kristen Walls (1meter dive) from 1992. . . Norberg and Wells were the only two non Stanford swimmer/diver to gain a championship last season. . . Other contenders for #4 UCLA are: Kristin Heydanek (backstroke), Richelle Depold in she short freestyle and fly, Rebecca Bruch in the breaststroke and IMs and Annette Salmeen in the butterfly.

USC's swimmers will be looking to reach qualifying times for the NAAs as only Ayako Nakano in the 100m freestyle plus the 400m freestyle relay team has met the standards. . . Jenn Hutchison in the distance freestyle, team captain Tara Shriner in the breaststroke, Heather Ray (IM) and Diana Fridly (backstroke) will all add up with Nakano, the former Japanese Olympian.

WASHINGTON dominated in the Pacific Northwest as they had depth in all events. . . For their first trip into California, Sara Quan and Claudine Martinez in the IMs and distances could help the Huskies. . . Martinez (400 IM) along with Mary Ellen Jenkins in the 200 IM have performed good enough to reach NCAA consideration times.

With probably its most talented group of swimmers, WASHINGTON STATE is looking for another successful Championships as they broke 10 individual and four relay records last year. . . Jessica Adolphson in the freestyle and Erica Dunn in the butterfly could be the top point getters for the Cougars as they are only a fraction of a second away from consideration times. . . The 200yd freestyle relay team is WSU's first ever consideration time qualifier.

1993 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS . . . To be held Thursday, March 18 - Saturday, March 20 in Minneapolis, Minn. . . STANFORD is the defending champion while ARIZONA finishing fifth and UCLA sixth in 1992. . . All but eight of the 21 events were won by Pac-10 swimmers, divers or teams. . . In the last 11 years, STANFORD has won the crown three times while the Pac-10 has seen 72 individual champions, the most of any conference. . . A number of Pac-10 swimmers have already qualified based on the time standards listed below.

1992-93 PAC-10 SWIMMING HONORS

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. – In a vote by Conference coaches, ARIZONA men's swimming coach Frank Busch and swimmer Seth Pepper were named Men's Coach and Athlete of the Year, respectively, while WASHINGTON women's coach Earl Ellis and STANFORD Olympian Janel Jorgensen named for the women, Commissioner Tom Hansen announced today.

Pepper, a four time All-American, is coming off NCAA championships in the 100 fly (46.51) and as the third leg in the 200 medly relay (1:27.01) and gains his first Athlete of the Year honor. The senior from Salem, Ore., also finished third in the 100 free (43.44). At the Pac-10 championships he finished eight in the 100 fly and fourth in the 100 free.

Busch wins his second Coach of the Year honor, but this time for the men after being honored for the women in 1991. For the fourth consecutive season, he has seen the Wildcat men improve nationally by finishing a spot higher (fourth) from the previous year, while his women's team was sixth. At the NCAAs, he also saw his second individual national champion, in Pepper, and his team winning the 200 medly relay.

Jorgenson, a senior from Ridgefield, Conn., won three NCAA individual championships while she also swam the third leg on three relay championship teams (200 free, 800 free, 400 medley) as she becomes the fifth Cardinal to be honored as Athlete of the Year. Besides winning the 100 and 200 fly and the 200 IM in Minneapolis, she had earlier broken the Pac-10 record in the 200 fly during the Conference Championships while also winning the 100 fly and 200 IM.

Ellis finished his 24th year at UW - 24th as men's coach, 17th as women's - receives his first honor as Pac-10 Coach of the Year. This season, his club finished 13-2 in dual meets, which carried his career record to 154-20-2, and totalled 518.5 points at the Pac-10 Championships for seventh place. A coach of over 40 All-Americans, he has guided the Huskies as the dominant swimming force in the Pacific Northwest.

Stanford dominates swimming

The Stanford Cardinal won a championships-record-tying 13 events in capturing its second consecutive Division I Women's Swimming and Diving Championships team title March 18-20 at Minnesota.

Led by Olympians Jenny Thompson, Janel Jorgensen and Lea Loveless, who combined to win six individual titles, the heavily favored Cardinal coasted to victory over Florida and Texas.

Thompson successfully defended her 50- and 100-yard freestyle titles, and Loveless won both backstroke events, repeating as champion in the 100-yard backstroke and unseating Whitney Hedgepeth of Texas in the 200-yard backstroke. Jorgensen regained both the 100- and 200-yard butterfly titles she won in 1990. The trio also helped Stanford to four relay victories.

Stanford's Eileen Richetelli won titles in three-meter and platform diving for the second straight year, and Lisa Jacob added a victory in the 500-yard freestyle as part of a four-victory first day that gave the Cardinal a commanding lead.

Michigan's Lara Hooiveld and Florida's Nicole Haislett were the meet's other double winners. Hooiveld was named swimmer of the year after setting a U.S. Open record of 1:00.47 in the finals of the 100-yard breaststroke and unseating Villanova's Lisa Flood in the 200-yard breaststroke.

Florida Olympian Haislett avenged her loss to Thompson in the 100-yard freestyle by winning her third straight 200-yard freestyle, and she also edged a trio of Stanford swimmers in the 200-yard individual medley.

Florida's narrow second-place victory was aided by freshman Mimoso McNerney, who won the 1,650-yard freestyle during the final evening of competition to protect a slim Gator lead over Texas.

Thirty-three points separated fourth-place Southern Methodist from seventh-place UCLA. Mustang freestylers Gitta Jensen and Sandra Cam earned top-five points in all five freestyle events.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING

After winning 10 events and all the relays at the Pac-10 Championships, STANFORD moved on to claim its second NCAA title in as many years, and fourth in 12 years. In addition, five other Pac-10 schools would help round out the Top-15.

At the NCAA meet, held in Minneapolis, the Cardinal won a record-tying 13 events with Jenny Thompson (50, 100 free), Lisa Jacob (500 free), Lea Loveless (100, 200 back), Janel Jorgensen (200 fly) and Eileen Richetelli (3-Meter, Platform) leading the way with individual crowns. For all but Jacob, this would be a second year of individual titles, with Loveless pulling an upset in the 200 back and Jorgensen regaining the titles she won in '90. Each also would contribute to the three relay titles.

Jorgensen was the Pac-10 Swimmer of the Year after the two NCAA titles and second in the 200 IM - all three of which she won at the Pac-10 Championships - setting the mark in the 200 IM (1:58.41). The senior from Ridgefield, Conn., provided the third leg in the Cardinal 200 free, 800 free and 400 medley relay national championship teams.

WASHINGTON coach Earl Ellis was named the Pac-10 Coach of the Year by his peers. The men's coach for 24 years, and the women's for the last 17 years, his club was 13-2 during the dual season - which carried his career record to 154-20-2 (.875). A coach of over 40 All-Americans, he has made the Huskies into the dominant swimming force in the Pacific Northwest.
